

JONATHAN REYNOLDS

Jonathan attended Trinity International University where he received his BA in Biblical Studies. He then furthered his education at Trinity Evangelical Divinity School earning an MA in Urban Ministries. Pastor Reynolds believes that there is nothing better than watching God dynamically work in a young person's life and igniting a passion for God at such a critical age. There are many high school students that engage in many complex and diverse issues daily. Salem's Hope Factory is all about reaching students in a relevant way. With the help of volunteers and youth leaders, they provide a safe, inspiring and exciting environment for students to grow and understand who God is and the purpose of their life.
